Executive Summary

In 2025, the Office of the Marijuana Commissioner (OMC) experienced a year of leadership transition, market launch, and programmatic growth as Delaware advanced implementation of the Marijuana Control Act. Following the departure of Delaware's first Marijuana Commissioner in January, Joshua Sanderlin was sworn in as Commissioner in May. Earlier in the year, OMC and its partner agencies relocated to a new facility in Dover, strengthening operational coordination.

OMC prioritized education, outreach, and regulatory readiness throughout the year, engaging judicial officers, state agencies, community partners, and the public. A major regulatory milestone was achieved in May when, after statutory revisions, the FBI issued Delaware a fingerprint service code for marijuana business applicants, enabling compliant national criminal background checks.

Delaware launched adult-use marijuana sales on August 1, 2025, generating strong early performance. Adult-use sales from August through December totaled $20.6 million, with total 2025 adult-use tax revenue estimated at nearly $3 million. Medical marijuana sales remained stable at $37.7 million. Combined, the regulated marijuana industry generated $58.3 million in sales and supported 422 employees across 10 operating businesses.

OMC expanded the regulated market by launching new cultivation and manufacturing facilities and issuing conditional licenses to 86 businesses. Equity and workforce development initiatives included the launch of the $6 million Social Equity Financial Assistance (SEFA) grant program, the sponsorship of a workforce development course with Delaware Technical Community College, and expungement clinics to address harms of prior marijuana prohibition.

These efforts reflect a year of responsible growth, increased access, and continued commitment to public safety, equity, and regulatory integrity.

Legislative Initiatives

OMC had a limited number of legislative initiatives over the span of 2025. These initiatives were targeted towards what the office felt were essential changes to the code to help implement the mission of the office, and protecting public safety. The bills supported by the office were as follows:

- House Bill 110: Signed April 24, 2025. This bill clarified the specific categories of individuals required to undergo a fingerprint-based national criminal background check in connection with employment at a licensed marijuana establishment, holding a marijuana establishment license, or owning or serving on the board of directors of a business entity that holds or applies for such a license. This clarification was necessary to ensure compliance with Public Law 92-544, which governs access to FBI criminal history record information, and enabled the Office of the Marijuana Commissioner to resubmit its request to the FBI for approval of its background check process.

- House Bill 172: Signed July 30, 2025. This bill made a technical correction to the specific categories of person required to obtain a fingerprint-based background check.

Stakeholder Engagement

OMC established relationships with government and non-government agencies, by collectively working together to transition from a medical marijuana program to a combined medical and adult-use program.

In 2025, the Health and Safety Subcommittee did not hold a meeting.

Appeals Commission

The Appeals Commission was created in 4 Del. C. § 1321 and includes 3 Governor appointed members confirmed by the Senate. The 3-member Appeals Commission consists of one member from each county and will meet to hear and consider certain appeals of the Marijuana Commissioner's decisions. The members of the appeals committee are:

The Honorable William L. Chapman, Jr.	New Castle County
Reverend Rita M. Paige	Kent County
Michael Houghton, Esquire	Sussex County

In December 2025, the Appeals Commission held its first appeals hearing, upholding the OMC denial of a conditional license. The Commission will continue to conduct appeals hearings as additional matters are received in 2026.

Delaware Technical Community College

In cooperation with Delaware Technical Community College (DTCC), the Office of the Marijuana Commissioner sponsored a Marijuana Workforce Development Course, running from May through August 2025, focused on preparing participants for employment in the regulated cannabis industry. Several of these graduates are now employed in Delaware's licensed cannabis industry. The curriculum provided end-to-end industry exposure, covering cultivation, manufacturing, laboratory testing, and retail operations. Program reflects a successful collaboration between higher education, regulators, and licensed operators to build a compliant, job-ready cannabis workforce, additional rounds of the course will be offered Spring 2026.

OMC continues to collaborate with Delaware Technical Community College (DTCC) to develop a comprehensive cannabis business operations course designed specifically for licensed facilities operating in Delaware's regulated market. The course focuses on the business side of operating a licensed cannabis facility and introduces core operational concepts, including investment fundamentals, marketing practices, compliance requirements, and accounting principles. Participants will gain an understanding of how cannabis businesses are structured, managed, and monitored within a highly regulated environment, with an emphasis on Delaware-specific requirements and industry standards.

The course is anticipated to be available beginning in Fall 2026 to all OMC licensees. Participation costs for Social Equity Licensees will be fully covered through the Social Equity Fund, ensuring equitable access to essential business development and operational training resources.

Licensing

At the beginning of the year, applicants selected in the 2024 License Lotteries completed supplemental applications by submitting information required for civil and financial background investigations conducted by the Division of Alcohol and Tobacco Enforcement (DATE). The Office of the Marijuana Commissioner experienced delays in the fingerprinting and criminal background check process after the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) denied participation based on statutory language then in effect specifying the categories of individuals subject to criminal background investigations. In response, Representative Edward Osienski promptly advanced House Bill 110 to amend the Marijuana Control Act and address the language that had resulted in the FBI's denial of Delaware's process.

Following approval of the fingerprinting process, the Office of the Marijuana Commissioner issued guidance to selected applicants in May, including the required codes to complete their criminal background investigations. The Division of Alcohol and Tobacco Enforcement subsequently completed all comprehensive background investigations and provided its recommendations to the Office, where final determinations regarding conditional licensure were made. As a result of these determinations, 86 businesses were granted conditional licenses (see Table 2), 5 of which promptly advanced to active status (see Table 1). Additionally, 27 applications were denied, the majority of which have been appealed; one denial has since been reviewed and upheld by the Appeals Commission (see Table 3). The current license vacancies total to 8 licenses (see Table 4).

Licensing Distribution

The resulting demographics of the licensing process post-approval can be seen below.

In limited circumstances, the Office has permitted conditional licensees to relocate to a different county than originally assigned where the licensee demonstrates a good-faith inability to secure a suitable compliant location within the assigned county. Such requests are evaluated on a case-by-case basis and require evidence of documented site-search efforts, as well as identification of a viable alternative location in the proposed county. This approach is intended to preserve licensure viability while maintaining the integrity and geographic balance of the licensing framework.

Conversion Licenses

During the 2024 legislative session, the 152nd General Assembly passed House Bill 408, which established the conversion license. The legislation required a one-time conversion license fee, with proceeds dedicated to supporting the Social Equity Financial Assistance (SEFA) Grant program. Licensees were permitted to satisfy this obligation through quarterly payments, which have continued into 2025. Retail licensees were authorized to commence recreational sales on August 1, 2025, upon payment of the first quarterly installment. To date, conversion license fees have generated $3,786,000 of the anticipated $4.1 million. A portion of the remaining funds is not expected to be collected, as some licensees were unable to convert their licenses due to conflicts with local municipal policies.

Social Equity Licenses

Social equity licenses created under the enabling legislation, 4 Del. C. § 1336, facilitate participation in the regulated marketplace by individuals adversely affected by marijuana prohibition laws. Social equity license applicants must demonstrate that they resided in a disproportionately impacted area for 5 of the proceeding 15 years, and or, that the applicant or their immediate family member was convicted of a qualifying marijuana related offense.

Commissioner Sanderlin stated: At the Office of the Marijuana Commissioner (OMC), the integrity of Delaware's social equity program is non-negotiable. While our mission is to empower those historically harmed by marijuana prohibition, we must also remain vigilant against predatory business models that seek to exploit these opportunities for their own gain. Following a thorough investigation, we identified and terminated applications that failed to meet our strict standards for transparency and true ownership.

OMC will not allow "straw applicant" schemes or predatory arrangements—where out-of-state entities attempt to bypass our 51% social equity ownership requirement—to undermine the Social Equity Financial Assistance (SEFA) Grant Program or the hard-earned licenses of legitimate applicants. By denying these 23 applications for these reasons, in addition to one denial for cause, we are ensuring that the 21 approved conditional licenses represent a fair, safe, and truly equitable marketplace for all Delawareans.

Social Equity Financial Assistance Grant

In September, OMC launched the Social Equity Financial Assistance (SEFA) Grant Program pursuant to 4 Del. C. § 1339. The $6 million initiative is funded one-third by state funds and two-thirds by conversion license fees from current marijuana industry partners. The SEFA Grant Program is designed to reduce long-standing barriers to capital for qualified social equity licensees—particularly those historically impacted by past marijuana laws—while promoting business readiness and equitable participation in Delaware's regulated adult-use cannabis market.

Grant awards are determined based on license type and distributed through milestone-based installment payments, ensuring fiscal accountability and responsible use of public and industry-supported funds. To support transparency and accessibility, OMC hosted an informational webinar to guide prospective applicants through the application and compliance requirements. To date, the SEFA Grant Program has approved four applications for awards totaling $495,000 in grant funding.

Revenue Generated

On August 1, 2025, OMC opened the regulated market to the public, allowing adult-use sales to begin to those 21 years of age or older. Since that time, the 15% tax revenue collected has accumulated to total collections of $2,734,558.56. The 15% tax revenue reported reflects actual collections received by the Delaware Division of Revenue as of December 31, 2025. Because marijuana tax remittances are typically due in the month following the transaction, the current collection total of $2,734,558.56 primarily represents sales conducted through November 2025. Tax revenue generated from December's peak holiday sales is anticipated to be reconciled and reflected in the first quarter report of 2026.
Seven percent of this revenue by law is to be designated to the Criminal Justice Council's (CJC) Justice reinvestment fund. To date, $191,419.09 has been allocated to CJC for purposes of administering grants, contracts, services, and other initiatives.

Total sales for 2025 are $58,365,041.41. Medical Marijuana sales from January through December contributed $37,705,058.40 while Adult-Use sales from August to December contributed $20,659,983.

In 2025, sales were led by Usable Marijuana, with 799,003 units sold generating $31.2 million, followed by Marijuana Extract for Inhalation at $17.5 million in sales. Solid Marijuana Infused Edibles also represented a strong segment, with over 460,000 units sold and $8.1 million in revenue. All other product categories accounted for comparatively smaller shares of total units and sales, indicating continued consumer preference for traditional flower and inhalation products.

Medical Marijuana Program

The Medical Marijuana Program remained largely stable during the reporting period, with no significant shifts observed in overall participation or demographic trends. Year-over-year data indicates that patient demographics and program utilization remain consistent, reflecting a mature and steady program.

One notable development in 2025 was the successful implementation of the 65-and-older self-certification process. This change has improved access for qualifying seniors while maintaining program integrity. As of 2025, a total of 4,706 medical marijuana cardholders has utilized the self-certification option, demonstrating strong adoption and positive engagement among eligible participants.

Compliance Activities

OMC must revoke the registry identification card of any cardholder who knowingly commits multiple or serious violations (REF.:16 DE Code § 4919A (2023). In 2025 there were zero (0) revocations.

Participating Physicians

Applications must be reviewed and certified by a physician before they are submitted for review by OMC. Any medical doctor, osteopathic doctor, advanced practice registered nurse, or physician assistant licensed to practice in Delaware is authorized to certify. The health care practitioner certification is valid for 90 days from the date of signature.

Of the participating medical professionals, 448 have offices in New Castle County, 158 have offices in Sussex County, 99 have offices in Kent County. There are another 49 medical professionals that practice in another state; however, they have Delaware license to practice. (Figure 12).

Accounting of MMP Fees and Costs

During the course of 2025, the sum of revenue generated from patient applications for the Medical Marijuana Program totaled in $884,454.

Capacity

Since all medical marijuana businesses transitioned to support the adult-use market, overall capacity and inventory have increased significantly. In 2025, in preparation for the adult-use launch on August 1, Delaware cultivators processed a total of 98,649 plants.

Federal Legislative Landscape

In November 2025, President Trump signed "An Act Making Continuing Appropriations and Extensions for Fiscal Year 2026," which included substantive amendments to the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 related to hemp. Unlike prior appropriations provisions, these changes amend federal law and do not require annual renewal.

The Act narrows the federal definition of hemp by expressly incorporating "Total THC," including THCa, into the existing 0.3 percent dry-weight threshold and by distinguishing "industrial hemp" from "hemp-derived cannabinoid products." It excludes from the definition of hemp most intermediate and final cannabinoid products that contain synthetic cannabinoids, cannabinoids synthesized outside the plant, or more than 0.3 percent total THC (for intermediate products) or 0.4 milligrams total THC per container (for final retail products), including other cannabinoids determined by HHS to have similar effects. The law also creates new federal definitions for hemp-derived cannabinoid products, intermediate products, and "container."

The amendments take effect 365 days after enactment. Within 90 days, the FDA, in consultation with other federal agencies, must publish guidance identifying naturally occurring cannabinoids, THC-class cannabinoids, other cannabinoids with similar effects, and additional clarification regarding the definition of "container." The scope of federal enforcement and the interaction with state hemp programs remain under development.

In December 2025, President Trump signed an executive order directing federal agencies to expedite rescheduling marijuana under the Controlled Substances Act from Schedule 1 (No accepted medical use) toward Schedule III (recognized medical use and lower abuse potential). The goal is to expand medical research and better integrate cannabidiol (CBD) and cannabinoid research into federal health frameworks. The order does not by itself legalize cannabis federally or immediately change state-legal markets' it initiates and accelerates the administrative rulemaking process led by the Department of Justice, DEA, HHS, and FDA.

Conclusion

OMC's work in 2025 reflects a year of growth and transition, marked by legislative successes, strategic stakeholder engagement, and a focus on inclusivity through social equity measures. These initiatives have laid the foundation for a robust and well-regulated marijuana industry in Delaware, with an emphasis on fairness, safety, and public health. Looking forward, OMC will continue to refine its processes, support social equity applicants, and ensure compliance within the evolving marketplace.

MEDIA ADDENDUM

The Office of the Marijuana Commissioner (OMC) is proud to reflect on a year marked by transformative milestones and continued dedication to building a safe, equitable, and well-regulated marijuana industry. This year, the OMC successfully launched Delaware's adult-use recreational marijuana market, a historic advancement in the state's regulatory framework. In parallel with this launch, the office finalized the approval of marijuana business licenses, issuing both conditional and active licenses that enabled operators to begin establishing and participating in the regulated marketplace.

These achievements reflect the culmination of extensive planning, stakeholder engagement, and regulatory development designed to promote public safety, transparency, and equity. As the industry transitions from planning to full operation, the OMC remains committed to thoughtful oversight, collaboration, and continuous improvement to support a sustainable marijuana market that benefits consumers, licensees, and communities across Delaware.
